Robert Pattinson was the biggest name in Hollywood a few years ago.

After stealing hearts in Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire as Cedric Diggory, he captured the world's attention as the broody vampire Edward Cullen in the Twilight franchise. People were absolutely obsessed with the English actor...until they weren't.

Centre of Facial Cosmetic Surgery's Dr Julian De Silva said: "Robert Pattinson was the clear winner when all elements of the face were measured for physical perfection.

"He was in the top five for nearly all the categories because he has such classically shaped features and a wonderful chiselled jaw.

"His only score below average was for his lips which are a little thin and flat."

Also in the top 10 were Hugh Jackman, David Beckham, Idris Elba, Kanye West and Ryan Gosling.

Dr De Silva's algorithm was also responsible for naming supermodel Bella Hadid as the most attractive woman in the world.
